

How to Access Panopto in a Canvas Course

Overview

The Panopto Canvas integration enables you to automatically provision courses, individually or in batch. Instructors are automatically made Panopto creators, and students become viewers. Panopto recordings and webcasts automatically publish to the associated Canvas course, and can also be embedded directly into a Canvas page by an instructor. Once a student or faculty member logs into Canvas, they'll automatically login to Panopto as well. And with rolling synchronization, Panopto always references your current class lists to understand which students have access to each class.

Prerequisites

- Creator access to Panopto

1. Add Recordings

1.1. Click on Panopto Recordings Link and you will be taken to the corresponding folder in Panopto, logged in as your Canvas account. Here you will see any content you have uploaded to your course folder (See Figure 1).

1.2. From here you can manage or create your Panopto content. You can also launch the Panopto Recorder by following this article.

1.3. You can also now change the order of the sessions in this view as well set when the recordings are available to your viewers (Panopto 4.6.1 and higher).

2. Add Panopto (Optional)

Panopto should automatically be enabled. In the event that it is not, you can follow these steps.

2.1. Browse to find the Canvas course where you wish to add Panopto and click Settings (Fig. 2)
